

— THE TOWN MANOR —

This cultural centre defends modern art and presents varied temporary exhibitions during the year.

A vast family dwelling built in 1730 by the Ganioz family, the Manor is a completely unique part of the Valaisan architectural heritage.

Since 1964, the Manor has exhibited numerous paintings and sculptures by artists from Switzerland and neighbouring countries. It has always taken care to introduce high quality living artists, without hesitating to also introduce young promising talents at the start of their careers. It is the oldest cultural institution still active in Valais.
